Porters Funeral Service has been providing a funeral service for families in Clowne and the surrounding area for over 80 years and during this time has become established as a company renowned for its standards of quality and care. For the last 14 years the company has been managed by experienced husband and wife team. Derek and Julia Brigham, who both hold Diplomas in funeral directing to National Association of Funeral Directors standards. In addition Derek is a member of the British Institute of Embalmers. Derek and Julie Brigham are not just funeral directors, they are a couple committed to integrating themselves into the community in other ways. As parents they have personal links with various organisations. Julia, for example, is a school governor who has fund raised for school and other causes by holding events in the grounds of the funeral home. Their aim on the funeral side is to provide a service second to none. Attention to detail with regard to premises and vehicles is paramount. Clients requirements be they at a time of need or to arrange a pre-paid funeral plan for the future are met with the utmost discretion. Porters offer the Peace of Mind Funeral Plan which allows families to pre-plan at todays prices. The plans can be simple or detailed and anyone choosing to add their own personal touches can be assured that their wishes will be honoured.
